Marching to Our Own Beat

Happy March and happy Women's History Month! Please enjoy this month's edition of the RaYnbow Review. We've included an artist spotlight, a queer media recommendation, and upcoming events. Don't forget that Rainbow Day, a day to celebrate and support LGBTQ+ individuals at Utah schools, is on March 4th (if you wear rainbow and post about it, tag us on Instagram)!

Queer Media Recommendation

As a collective, and as young queer people, we love consuming queer media! We hope you'll enjoy these monthly recommendations, consisting of music, film, literature, and more, and featuring queer artists and stories, from us to you!

One of our favorite bands to listen to recently has to be The Aces, an alternative pop queer girl group native to Provo, Utah! Some current favorite songs by The Aces are "I Can Break Your Heart Too" and "Daydream"

"Their music is so relatable. I , too, struggle living in the 801."

Artist
Spotlight
M. Alice
Abrams

M. Alice Abrams (she/her) is an illustrator and printmaker located in Vancouver, Washington. Her artwork reflects her religious convictions and insights, as well as her experiences and feelings surrounding parenthood, and most recently her experience navigating her newfound queer identity as a bisexual, biromantic, and demisexual cis-woman in a mixed orientation marriage. Her goal is to create simple, poignant artwork that makes people feel loved, seen, and welcomed in the gospel of Jesus Christ. She attempts to display the diversity our church needs to thrive to embrace the concept of Zion.

Alice has been exploring linoleum block print for the past six years, and loves that it allows her to explore her illustrative style. She is also experienced in watercolor, colored pencil, and loves working in various mediums. When she's not creating, Alice spends her time connecting with other artists, hiking, snacking, and enjoys taking road trips to Utah with her family. Between nap time and feeding never-ending meals to her kids, Alice spends her spare time creating new work, filling Etsy orders, and creating community on her Instagram page.

You can find her work on Instagram
